In 1986, of the opinion that the doctrine of... the substance of the body and blood of the Lord [carnis et sanguinis Domini.- - R. D.] is erroneous, held the majority of scientists, and among these scientists even some who considered me (i.e. Augustine) infallible and were very far from being able to refute my teaching. However, in later years I met some scientists who not only had no doubts about the correctness of the doctrine of substance, but also considered it the only one, since even some of those who had previously been convinced of its fallacy recognized its truth.
