The state, which is appealing the verdict on constitutional grounds, has already paid about $800 million of the judgement and is being challenged by many state agencies that cost the state money to operate. On Wednesday, US District Judge Mariana Pfaeizer called the case "the gift that keeps on giving." Schwarzenegger agreed, calling the case "a source of nuisance and a distraction" for his state. "Instead of spending state money to comply with that judgment, we're in the process of appealing." Schwarzenegger said Thursday at the end of a news conference that continued for more than an hour at his office in Sacramento. Schwar 6d1f23a050
